Lockdown: SC reserves order on airfare refund

He further said that the government cannot control the interse contractual obligations between agents and passengers. "We can recognise two agencies because they are recognisable – passengers and airlines. We have done our best to ensure that the passenger either gets the money back or gets the voucher which is transferable," the SG said.

"For airlines, directing them refund would adversely impact them and will have a devastating effect. That was not a desirable outcome," Mehta said.

Senior advocate Pallav Shishodia, appearing for the travelagents, said that there are many cases where the agents have paid in advance to the airline to book tickets. "Insolvency of an airline cannot be saved at the expense of our insolvency," he said.

Airlines through senior counsel Arvind Datar and Mukul Rohtagi contended that they were facing massive losses and that while having "frozen working capital", they were left to bear the burden of paying refunds.

Earlier the civil aviation ministry had submitted a proposal saying passengers will be eligible for full refund for the tickets, and if the airliners are unable to pay immediately ticket price amount will be kept in a credit shell where 0.5% monthly interest will accrue till it is used.

India's debt level to exceed 90% of GDP in FY21: S&P

For its part, S&P sees India's debt level easing only marginally to 89% of GDP next fiscal. Earlier this month, S&P predicted a sharper contraction in India's real GDP to a record 9% in FY21 than the 5% announced earlier. It said the continued escalation of the pandemic could keep a leash on both private spending and investment for a longer-thanexpected period.

Highlighting that while the country's external profile is improving, its fiscal position remains the "Achilles' heel", with general government (centre and states) fiscal deficit expected to slip to 12.5% of GDP in FY21 from 7.8% a year earlier.

"Deficit consolidation over the next three years is likely to be gradual; we forecast the change in net general government indebtedness will average 9.4% of GDP per year," it said. However, India's sound external metrics have strengthened on rapid reserve accumulation.

While most agencies have predicted a recovery in FY22 (S&P projects a 10% expansion next fiscal), some of them have cautioned that it will be greatly aided by a favourable base and a meaningful rebound will take time to materialise. S&P expects a permanent loss of 13% in output over the next three Various established agencies have predicted a sharper contraction in India's GDP, after the government announced a record 23.9% drop, the steepest among the G-20 economies, in the June quarter. Earlier this month, Moody's forecast India's GDP to shrink by 11.5% in FY21, while Fitch predicted a fall of 10.5% and Goldman Sachs 14.8%.

"The stable outlook reflects our expectation that India's economy will recover following the resolution of the Covid-19 pandemic, and that the country's strong external settings will act as a buffer against financial strains despite elevated government funding needs over the next 24 months," S&P said in a statement.

The agency also affirmed its 'A-3' short-term foreign and local currency sovereign credit ratings on India.

It said India's economy has been hard hit "by the confluence of the Covid-19 pandemic, the country's own cyclical slowdown, and strict domestic containment measures against the coronavirus". "Nevertheless, we believe the Indian economy will remain a long-term out-performer versus peers with a similar level of income." However, it has cautioned that it may lower the ratings if India's economy "recovers significantly slower than we expect from fiscal 2021 onwards; or net general government deficits and the associated accumulation of indebtedness materially exceed our forecasts, signifying a weakening of India's institutional capacity to maintain sustainable public finances".

Last week, a finance ministry report said the government's total liabilities rose by a steep 7.1%, or ₹6.73 lakh crore, in the April-June period to just over ₹101.35 lakh crore, against a 0.8% increase in the previous quarter, which reflected the enormous pressure the Covid-19 pandemic exerted on official finances.

US antitrust case: Google's search engine to face its biggest challenge

The search engine decides the fates of thousands of businesses online and has funded Google's expansion into email, online video, smartphone software, maps, cloud computing, autonomous vehicles and other forms of digital ads.

European competition regulators have fined Google billions of euros for breaking antitrust laws. But US enforcers have left the company mostly untouched since the Federal Trade Commission closed a probe in early 2013 with no action. Now, Attorney General William Barr is on the cusp of what could be the biggest US monopoly case since Microsoft Corp. was sued by the government more than two decades

Barr has been a key ally in Donald Trump's crackdown on technology giants. The US president has railed against internet companies for allegedly censoring conservative viewpoints online.

While some involved in the Google case expected it to be filed as soon as next week, that timing will likely be pushed back, possibly to the following week, according to two people familiar with the matter. State attorneys general and Justice Department lawyers have been discussing final preparations for the case this week in Washington. The people asked not to be identified discussing private - BLOOMBERG matters.

SP Balasubrahmanyam — matchless musician,

a 'nek insaan'

And to think that his voice was turned down once upon a time. During the music making process of filmmaker S Balachandar's Rati Agnihotri and Kamal Haasan-starrer Ek Duje ke Liye (1981) -- Hindi remake of the director's Telugu film Maro Charitra -- composers Laxmikant-Pyarelal were displeased. They felt that Balasubrahmanyam, the "Madrasi" singer they were asked to work with, could not accurately pronounce Anand Bakshi's Hindustanilyrics. Balachandar's condiclear was Balasubrahmanyam was to sing for Haasan, since Vasu, his character was not supposed to be good at Hindi. The composer duo relented.

The songs in Balasubramaniam's smooth baritone, many of which were duets with Lata Mangeshkar, captured the nation's attention. The mix of his trademark sincerity paired with a soft timbre made the musician a national phenomena. The following year Balasubrahman yam received the National Award for the Best Male Playback Singerfor the famed lament Tere mere beech mein in the pathos-driven raga Shivranjini. Even Lakshmikant Pyarelal turned a corner. They cast him as Salman Khan's voice in Sooraj Barjatya's famed project Maine Pyaar Kiya (1989). The voice fit Khan like a glove. Balasubrahmanyam continued being Khan's voice throughout the 90s in his subsequent successes such as Andaz Apna Apna (1994) in the song 'Ye raat aurye doori' and many in Hum Aapke Hain Koun (1994) among others.

In a condolence message on Twitter, Haasan said, "A great singer who sang for four generations of heroes will be remembered for seven generations to come.", while Mangeshkar referred to him as "nek insaan (good person)"

Balasubrahmanyam was born in Konetampet village located in present day Tiruvallur into a Telugu family to a Harikatha artiste and his wife. His interest in music began early.Bright in academics, Balasubrahmanyam wanted to become an engineer and took admission in Anantpur, Andhra Pradesh. While going to college on his cycle he would often hear Deewana huya baadal, the melodious OP Nayyar ditty immortalised by Mohammad Rafi, in a shop. "I could hear Rafi sahab's smile in that song. I would cry... it felt nearest to godliness,"Subrahmanyamhad said once in a conversation with singer Sonu Nigam on the sets of the show SaReGaMa. In his early 20s Balasubrah-

manyam was also the leader of a music group that had him as a vocalist and his friend Illiyaraja on the harmonium. They would perform with a few others in small villages and cities, take part in competitions and visit composers forwork. Finally Balasubrahmanyam made his singing debut in 1966 with Telugu movie Sri Sri Sri Maryada Ramanna, which was scored by his mentor, SP Kodandapani. He soon began recording songs in Tamil and Kannada. His song Aayiram nilave vaa, picturised on MGR and J Jayalalitha in the 1969 film Adimai Penn was a huge success.

But what turned Balasubrahmanyam into a force to reckon with was Sankarabharanam (1980), the Telugu musical drama, which remains one of the finest films on the subject of classical music. Iconic singer M Balamuralikrishna was the top choice for the complex Carnatic classical compositions. But composer K Mahadevan decided on Balasubrahmanyam, who eventually won his first

The RBI will purchase 7.72% 2025 bonds, 8.24% 2027 and 6.45% 2029 notes for a total ₹10,000 crore while selling two series of securities maturing April 2021 for the same amount on October 1, RBI said late on Thursday.

Price trends since the last RBI's policy meeting show that the headline CPI has remained above target, which would allow the central bank to consider alternative policy options, according to a Barclays note. India's inflation-

Lack of quorum: SC extends CERC hearing suspension

FE BUREAU New Delhi, September 25

THE SUPREME COURT (SC) on Friday said that hearings at the Central Electricity Regulatory Commission (CERC) cannot happen until the regulator does not appoint a person from law as a commission member.

The apex court, in its August 28 order, had indefinitely suspended CERC hearings due to short-staff, leading to no cases being heard throughout September. The SC had then asked two of the regulator's members to go on leave. The apex court's decision was in response to a plea seeking to enforce its own 2018 orderwhich mandated a person from law to be appointed first as commission members.

CERC has already initiated the recruitment process of the person from law as one of its members. The SC will take up the matternext on October 26. "Liberty to the government to apply for vacation of the arrangement in case the process is completed and the person appointed before that date," it said on Friday.

As per its organisational structure, the CERC is headed by the chairperson, along with four members: law, technical, finance and ex-officio. The position for the law member currently remains vacant. A minimum of two members needs to be there from the top positions to preside over hearings. With the two members on leave, the regulator was exploring legal opinions to see if the chairperson of the Central Electricity Authority, who is the ex-officio member, can join CERC chairperson PK Pujari, to continue hearings.

Among others, cases filed by NTPC to determine the additional tariffs it can charge to discoms for setting up pollution-reducing equipment in its various power plants were scheduled to be heard this month.

India would see double-digit growth: Kamath

FE BUREAU Pune, September 25

BANKER AND FORMER president of the New Development Bank of BRICS countries, KV Kamath, said on Friday that India would see a double-digit growth between this financial year and the next.

A greater clarity would emerge in a month, he said. "The second quarter numbers will indicate where we are going to be," Kamath said. "Companies took a hit during Q1 this fiscal but there is visible improvement during Q2," Kamath said.

The economy is back to around 80% to 90% of the pre-Covid levels, barring a few sectors that continue to be under stress, the numbers are not as bad as it was expected to be, he said. India will benefit from the impact of deglobalisation and a large domestic market, Kamath said at the annual meet of the Mahratta Chamber of Commerce, Industries and Agriculture, Pune.

The unmet aspirations of the people will provide the momentum to grow at double digit rates, he said.
